Containing the freſheſt Advices Foreign and Domeſtick.

From July 1. to July 8. 1736.

HAMBOURG, Feb. 21.

WE hear from Petersbourg of the 3d Inſtant, that two Days before, an Expreſs diſpatch'd by the Prince of Heſſe-Hombourg from Kiow, arriv'd there with Advice, that in Conſequence of the Orders he had receiv'd from Court, he had begun his March for the Ukrain to join the Veldt-Marſhal Count Munich with the Troops he had brought from Poland; that he had divided his Troops into ſeveral Columns for the greater Convenieney of marching, and that he reckon'd to join the Count the beginning of March. Thoſe Letters add, that at the Count's Requeſt, Order had been ſent to the Regency of Moſcow to diſpatch away, with all poſſible Speed, all Sorts of Ammunition to him, and the heavy Artillery that was at Pultowa was alſo on the Road to join his Army, from which the Court had been above a Month without receiving any News. By another Expreſs arriv'd at Petersbourg, and diſpatch'd by the Goveror of Tubolkuy, we hear that the Tartars of Crim, and thoſe of Procop, were aſſembling all their Hordes (or Clans) to form an Army of 150,000 Men, and that they only waited Orders from Conſtantinople, and the Junction of the Janiſſaries whom the Ottoman Porte was ſending to their Aſſiſtance, to march up to Count Munich's Army, and attack it upon the firſt favourable Opportunity; but the Ruſſian Army is ſo advantageouſly poſted, and their Camp ſo well fortified, that there is nothing to fear from the Tartars, ſhould their Number be even much greater than is reported.

London, Feb. 24. They write from Rome, that the extreme Scareity of Money in the Eccleſiaſtical State, and the great Expences the Inhabitants are at for Contribution to the Imperial Troops, have induc'd the Pope to permit the Bologneſe, Ferrareſe, and Ravenneſe, to take the Plate out of the Churches, and carry it to the Mint to be coined.

They write from Triers, that the Governor of Philipsbourg has laid a Bridge over the Rhine near the Bruchſal, which ſets the Politicians on thinking; and there is a Report in Paris, that the Marſhal de Coigny is to command an Army next Spring on the Rhine.

Francfort, Feb. 25. We are hard at work here filling the Emperor's Magazines with all Neceſſaries for ſubſiſting a Part of the Imperial Troops which are to be re-aſſembled along the Rhine; and the Report is that thoſe Troops are to conſiſt of 30,000 Men, and that France is to have as many: We are alſo preparing Magazines for the former at Rheinhauſen below Philipsbourg. Several Imperial and French Commiſſaries are aſſembled at Berncaſſel, to regulate the Limits of the Quarters which the Troops of thoſe two Powers are to continue in Poſſeſſion of along the Moſelle: It is believ'd that a Cartel will likewiſe be ſettled for giving up the Deſerters on both Sides. General Morner, who commands the King of Denmark's Troops, in Winter Quarters in the Territories of Liege, has receiv'd an Order from that Prince, by Virtue of which he is to ſet out for Copenhagen; and General Scholten is to command thoſe Troops in his Abſence: It is obſerv'd that they keep a more regular Diſpoſition at preſent than they did formerly.

Naples, Feb. 7. Orders have been diſpatch'd for drawing a Line along the Frontiers of the Eccleſiaſtical State, from the Territories of Vaſto near Aſcoli in the Pope's Dominions, and to build ſeveral Redoubts there, which are to be guarded by 4000 Men: We talk of making ſeveral Retrenchments towards the Paſs of St. Germans, and to build divers Forts on the Road of Fondi: It is pretended, that by theſe Means we ſhall be able in Caſe of Need, with a very few Troops to diſpute the Entry in this Kingdom. We go the rounds here every Night with great Exactneſs, as well to prevent Robberies, as to render fruitleſs any Conſpiracies againſt the Government. Two Engliſh Ships, laden with 106 Bales of the Furniture of the Palace of Parma and Placentia, are arriv'd here.

Genoa, Feb. 11. Advices from Corſica give us great Hopes that the Malecontents of that Iſland will accept the Propoſals which the new Commiſſary General from the Republick has Orders to make to them.

London, April 4. Mr. Andrew Pitt, an Eminent Quaker, &c. waited on the Prince of Wales, to ſollicit his Favor in Relation to the Quakers Tythe Bill, whom his Royal Highneſs anſwer'd to this Effect, As I am a Friend to Liberty in general, and to Toleration in particular, I wiſh you may meet with all proper Favor; but for myſelf I never gave my Vote in Parliament; and to Influence my Friends, or Direct my Servants in theirs, does not become my Station. To leave them entirely to their own Conſcience and Underſtanding, is a Rule I have hitherto preſcrib'd to myſelf, and propos'd throughout my whole Life to obſerve. Mr. Pitt overcome with this Conduct, reply'd,

" May it pleaſe the Prince of Wales,

" I am greatly affected with your excellent " Notions of Liberty; and am more pleaſed with " the Anſwer you have given us, than if you " had granted our Requeſt.

April 16. Died Mr. Andrew Pitt at Hampſtead of a Gout-Fit in his Stomach. He was the Perſon who waited on the Prince, &c. Mr. Voltaire, in his Letters concerning the Engliſh Nation, ſays, He was one of the moſt Eminent Quakers in England, who after having traded 30 Years, had the Wiſdom to preſcribe Limits to his Fortune and his Deſires, and ſettled in a little Soliſude at Hampſtead. He was of a hale ruddy Complexion, and had never been afflicted with Sickneſs, becauſe he had always been inſenſible to Paſſions, and a perfect Stranger to Intemperance. And ſome of our News Papers add, He inherited many Virtues, and wanted every Vice.

London, May 1. Yeſterday their Royal Highneſſes the Prince and Princeſs of Wales, attended by a great Number of the Nobility, walked in St. James's Park from half an Hour after Eleven till near One o'Clock, in order to gratify with their Preſence the Curioſity of ſome Thouſands of People who were there, and with Acclamations expreſſed their Joy and Satisfaction. And his Royal Highneſs hearing from one of the Officers of the Houſhold, that three Women (neatly dreſſed) longed to kiſs the Princeſs's Hand, was pleaſed to ask that Favour from the Princeſs, who with an uncommon Affability and Condeſcention granted their Requeſt.

And about half an Hour after Three o'Clock, their Royal Highneſſes dined at their Apartments at St. James's, and his Royal Highneſs perceiving that a great Number of People was there, ordered the Windows to be thrown open.

Yeſterday at the Quarter Seſſions of the Peace for the City and Liberty of Weſtminſter, Admiral Stewart took the Oaths to qualify himſelf as Vice-Admiral of the White, in the room of Sir George Walton, who lately reſigned.

As did alſo the Right Hon. George Earl Granard, to qualify himſelf as Vice-Admiral of the Blue, in the room of Admiral Stewart.

London, May 1. The Corpſe of Prince Eugene of Savoy, having been opened, embalmed, and dreſſed up in the Uniform of the Regiment, which is Scarlet laced with Gold, faced with Black Velvet, and a Waiſtcoat of Gold Tiſſue, and being booted and ſpurr'd, lay in State in the Antichamber of his Palace. On the Right Hand the fore-part of his Cuiraſs was placed; as alſo his Ducal Cap, having about it the Collar of the Golden Fleece, which was depoſited on a black Cuſhion, and towards the Feet the Generals Staff and the Sword were alſo upon a Cuſhion, and over them the Hat and Gloves; on the left Hand the back Part of the Cuiraſs was ſeen, and upon two Cuſhions the Hat and Sword, of which Pope Clement XI. made him a Preſent, as being Defender of the Faith. There were four Altars on which Maſſes were celebrated continually for four Days. While his Corpſe was expoſed to publick View, two Franciſcan Fryars prayed conſtantly before it, a vaſt Number of People crowded to ſee it; and beſides the Soldiers of the Garriſon of this City, which were poſted at the Door on the Stair Head and in the great Hall, there was an Officer of the Prince's Regiment, who conſtantly guarded the Corps. All the Bells of Vienna rung every Day from 12 to one a Clock. And on the 26th paſt in the Evening his Highneſs was buried with all the Honours due to his high Birth and glorious Actions, in the Monument which the Princeſs of Savoy and Counteſs of Soiſſons erected in the Metropolitan Church of St. Stephen, for her deceaſed Husband.

His Highneſs having formerly made a Will and left his Eſtate to his Nephew the Count de Soiſſons, who died about two Years ago, had drawn up a Codicil, but the ſame was not executed, ſo that the greateſt Part of his Eſtate, which was by Grants from the late and preſent Emperor, reverts to his Imperial Majeſty; and the reſt goes to an old Lady at the Court of Turin. He had left in the deſign'd Codicil an Article of 50,000 Florins to Officers Widdows. His Highneſs had one of the beſt private Libraries in Europe, and the moſt curious Collection of Coins, Medals and Curioſities, ancient and modern.

They write from Genoa of the 4th Inſt. that the firſt Column of the Spaniſh Cavalry, had paſſed by the Walls of that City on it's Way to Spain through France, and that the Spaniſh Troops had evacuated Placentia, and went to Parma, where being joyned by the Garriſon of that Place, they are to march in a Body to Leghorn, in order to be ſhipped off there.

Yeſterday Morning his Excellency the Portugueſe Ambaſſador received an Expreſs from Lisbon, and afterwards went to St. James's and delivered his Majeſty a Letter from the King of Portugal. It is ſuppoſed his Portugueſe

Majeſty

Majesty desires some Troops for his Assistance against the Spaniards, the Differences between these two Courts being greater than ever.

There are Letters in Town from Lisbon, with Advice, that his Portuguese Majesty has ordered all his Troops to the Frontiers of Spain; and that the Recruits are raising in all Parts of that Kingdom with the utmost Expedition, his Portuguese Majesty being apprehensive of an unkind visit from the Spaniards: And from Spain they write, that his Catholick Majesty has ordered his Troops to repair to Badajox; and those that lately landed at Barcelona from Italy, are to take the same Rout.

Paris, April 18. 'Tis written from Leghorn, of the 2d Inst. that on 26th past, 100 Transports having Troops on board, and being convoy'd by 2 Men of War, sail'd with a favourable Wind for Barcelona, where several Tartanes arriv'd with vast Quantities of Biscuits for the said Troops, and where a second Convoy is soon expected from Tuscany, and a third is designed for Naples.

New-London, May 27. This Day arrived Capt. Richard Brockway and Company, who gives the following Account of his Voyage, viz. He sail'd out of NewLondon Harbour on June the 30th 1735, for the Port of Nevis, and safely arrived there the 24th of August, and from thence to Eustacia; and on the 28th of September set sail for Connecticut, but meeting with contrary Winds and Distress of Weather, on the 18th of November was drove on Shore at Mohoon Bay, about 4 Leagues to the Eastward of Malagash, having lost both his Anchors, his Cables stranding; and on the 22d of said Month went to seek Relief among the Indians, but they fired several Shot at his Boat, but miss'd striking either the Boat or any of the Hands, so they went ashore to them, who piloted him about a League to one Philip Goold a Frenchman (who had been a Privateer on the Coast of Connecticut many Years ago, and was acquainted with divers Persons of said Brockway's Acquaintance) and he shewed him no little Kindness and afforded them Relief, tho' they were threatned to be cut off by a Body of Indians. On the 11th of March they got their Vessel off from the Shore and sail'd for New-London the next Day (being in imminent Danger of being destroyed by the Indians) but meeting with more contrary Winds and Distress of Weather, they were drove to the Eastward of Newfoundland about an 100 Leagues. On the 23d of April they sprang a Leak, which caus'd their Pumps to go Night and Day for above 30 Hours, when by cutting a Timber they found the Leak and stopt it; after this their Provision was spent, and they came to Allowance of 14 Beans a man for 24 Hours, and after they were spent, they were forced to boil their Shoes, then fry them in Tallow and eat them. On the 2d of May they came to a Bank call'd Quero, where they found Bottom, and cast out an Hook to catch Fish, soon caught one and immediately threw it into the Kettle Guts and all, (but their Circumstances did not require Ceremonies) they out with it again, before it was near hot thro', being a delicate Dish to them; afterward by catching Fish themselves, and being supplied with Bread, Water and other Necessaries from some Fishermen, they are safely arrived in Health, to the great Surprize of their Friends, who had given them over for lost and gone.

Boston, June 28. On Sunday the 20th Inst. died at Mendon a Female Child of about 3 Years old, Daughter of Mr. David Thayer, jun. of a Bite in the Hand by a Rattle-Snake two Days before as she was at Play, the Poison of which so operated on the poor Child in that Time, that it's Wrist swell'd to that degree as to burst.
